

Arc/bench

Arc is a seating system for indoor and outdoor waiting areas. It can be used to create informal groupings through a series of flowing forms. The outdoor version has tops in hardwood and linking tables in slate. For indoors there is an upholstered version with laminate tables.

The sculptural base is made from steel, formed into a conical curve that is inherently strong, yet gives an impression of lightness. The graceful form of Arc can be configured to create flowing curves and an assortment of layouts. Arc can be used to break up space or add softness, colour or acoustic properties to open-plan spaces.

Arc has adjustable feet and can be floor-fixed or free-standing.
